

Internal Protocol for Energetic Hacking Practice (Personal Operation Manual)

Written and structured by $uzutayuri

1. Principles

- Do not use hacking as a means to gain external validation.
 - Treat it as an experiment to project your frequency precisely into the world and observe the reaction.
 - My essential theme is not “to earn money” or “to succeed,” but “to perceive the structure behind systems.”
As long as I live that frequency, incompatible people will naturally leave.
 - See others’ words and attitudes only as information of vibration. Do not react.

2. Premise

- Once a person touches the essence of the universe, vibration, and consciousness, their interest narrows to essence, vibration, reality, people, and space.
 - The phase has shifted from learning through others to creating reality through one’s own vibration.
 - “Raising my energy” is the true adventure. Enjoying “the rise of vibration in this very moment” is always rich and more valuable than any journey or trip.

3. Background

The previous DIVE = a fusion of knowledge, experience, and emotion, mainly the inner world.

The next DIVE = emitting the vibration refined inside outward, observing the reaction, and manipulating one’s vibration in reality = the stage of embodying existence.

The previous DIVE was inner exploration. The current DIVE is energetic projection toward the outer world.

Why DIVE again?

Normally, a lifetime of insight—understanding of concepts and uniting of experiences—would be enough.

But now comes the phase of moving reality at the vibrational level.
This is not mere learning but practice of embodying vibration in the material world.
Knowing is one thing, being it in the world is another.

4. About Fear

Outside the safety zone lies unverified information.
Fear often marks the entrance to the real path.
Fear is a signal that the brain and ego emit to protect the existing safety zone, while the soul and curiosity point to the value beyond the boundary.

Fear = a lamp that notifies the existence of a boundary.
The stronger the boundary, the denser the learning and the deeper the result.
Therefore, the probability that “the real thing” hides there is high.

Whether hacking suits me or not can only be known by proceeding.
To manifest the vibration and intention born within me into an unexperienced form of reality = embodiment of the unknown vibration.

5. Purity of Purpose

It is fine to be attracted to people, as long as I keep the perspective of observing “the vibration of being attracted.”
Then it becomes a pure DIVE.

If the purpose is to materialize learning and polish my own frequency, it is aligned.
Ultimately, what attracts me is their content.
From a cosmic perspective, it is an act of hacking illusion and reclaiming truth—seeing through hidden reality.

6. On Using Technology

Through technology, tune your energy.
Systems are mirrors.
The gap between intention and result becomes clear, allowing repeated practice of “intention → manifestation.”
Accuracy trains the purity of vibration.

7. Verification Method

1. Set “observation” as the purpose.
 2. Temporarily block external noise.
 3. Speak aloud: “My intention is learning and verification of vibration.”
 4. Do not fight or persuade anyone. Treat it as a game of rewriting your own code (frequency).
 5. Treat hacking not as a goal but as a mirror, a tool to visualize your thought structure.
 6. Ask: “Do I lose track of time during the act?”
 7. Fifteen minutes a day is enough. Touch it and observe your thought patterns.
 8. After finishing, check the feeling in your chest—light or heavy.
If light, it’s the right path. Fear is information. Does it lead to expansion?
 9. Record the result in your journal in one line.

Summary:

This document functions as a personal manual for energetic hacking, integrating spirituality and system logic.
